

This, umm.. is also a template engine(sort of)

LEARN REACT > DESCRIBING THE UI >

Writing Markup with JSX

JSX is a syntax extension for JavaScript that lets you write HTML-like markup inside a JavaScript file. Although there are other ways to write components, most React developers prefer the conciseness of JSX, and most codebases use it.

You will learn

- Why React mixes markup with rendering logic
- How JSX is different from HTML
- How to display information with JSX

You get the idea.